Program Assessment Committee (PAC) PAC consists of Head of the Department (Program Coordinator unless the department offers more than one program) as the chairperson and Senior faculty members. The committee meets at least once in each semester to review the progress of the program. The committee monitors attainment of Course Outcomes (COs) and Program Outcomes (POs) with the major focus being the cumulative learning of the students undergoing the program. ? Program Coordinator- Oversees all the courses offered by the department • Appoints Course Coordinators for each course offered administered by the department • Reviews the performance of students undertaking courses offered by the department • Ensures Colleges quality assurance processes for assessment in courses along with Academic Regulations are implemented ? Course coordinators - Discusses the course and its relationship to other courses within the program with the Program Coordinator • Develops course outcomes for the course • Schedules and conducts an orientation to the course for faculty, particularly who are new to the course. • Develops a meaningful and well connected topic sequence and schedules the same in consultation with other course instructors involved in the course and ensures adhering to the same. • Develops valid and reliable methods to evaluate student learning outcomes ? Class Advisers (Section Advisor) - Discusses all potentially significant issues and establishes good communication with the students thereby making them fully aware of their responsibility to meet performance standards. • Conducts weekly reviews with Counselors, monitors student progress and documents reviews to establish a record of trends in overall class performance

6.1.2 – Does the institution have a Management Information System (MIS)?

Yes

6.2 – Strategy Development and Deployment

6.2.1 – Quality improvement strategies adopted by the institution for each of the following (with in 100 words each):

Strategy Type	Details
Curriculum Development	As per the UGC norms and after due consideration of the recommendations of the departmental committees and Stakeholders, the respective Boards of Studies of different departments have been developing new curricula updating the syllabi. Quality improvement strategies: • The curriculum facilitates major and minor specializations • Soft core subjects are provided with laboratory work which facilitates students to choose specializations. • Raptor tool is introduced in the B.Tech first year, specifically to help students have a deeper understanding of the logic building, visualize the algorithms they develop and avoid syntactic errors in programming. • Logical reasoning course is introduced in B.Tech second year, thereby facilitating them with analytical/critical thinking and help build logic / reasoning in the solution to a given problem. • Foreign language courses are introduced in B.Tech Third year as open electives, which facilitate students with thinking in a second language that reduces deepseated, misleading biases that unduly influence how risks and benefits are perceived. Research has shown that early exposure to a second language increases divergent thinking strategies, helping not only in languagerelated tasks, but also in areas such as mathematics. Students may have different ways of expressing themselves, such that they better understand there is more than one way to look at a problem and that there is more than one solution. We also provide BEC (business English certificate) to enhance students articulation skills.

7.1.7 – Initiatives taken by the institution to make the campus eco-friendly (at least five)

• Geethanjali College of Engineering and Technology is located in a serene environment. The college is away from the hustle and bustle of the city. It is located in a lush green campus. GCET Management are cognizant and extremely serious about conservation of environment. We are committed to promote a clean and green environment fostering creativity and originality. Geethanjali believes in 'Innovation is life.' With this in mind, to support the theoretical knowledge gained, practical exposure is provided for students. This amalgamation of theory and practice enhances confidence and also creativity among the students. • The college conducts Green audit of its campus The faculty teaching environmental science carry out the audit. They set objectives of the audit and standards for good environmental management. They evaluate the practices in the college with respect to the laid down standards for the criteria of management and recommend corrective actions where necessary. Large scale plantation is done to balance the emissions and earn adequate carbon credits. Plantation/Greening Drives, Plantation programme has been taken up by the ECOCLUB unit to increase the Green Cover in the village. Every year, tree plantation is being done for making the campus green. The Gardeners take care of the lawn and plants in the college. • Ecoclub ECOCLUB: 'Save Today - Survive tomorrow' is the motto of our EClub. The committee works towards creating awareness of the hazards of environmental pollution among the students and involving them in tasks to minimize wastage of water, usage of plastics and increase of green cover. The club's motto is "Geethanjalites Go Green (GGG)". As a part of Adhira foundation, ECOCLUB has organized many ecofriendly events. Environmental consciousness is spread among the students and the villagers. The students actively involved in creating awareness towards environmental issues while celebrating Diwali. The institution is aware of its responsibilities in protecting the environment and conducts Green Audit of its campus and facilities.

7.2 – Best Practices

7.2.1 – Describe at least two institutional best practices

Best Practice I 1. Title of the Practice: Outcome Based Education, Assessment and Continuous Improvement Interpret, analyze and evaluate. 2. Goal: We at Geethanjali believe in the popular adage 'Nothing is permanent except change.' The outcome based education helps both the faculty and the learners to understand the desired behavior that is expected of by the end of the course. This practice provides right direction to carefully interpret, analyze and evaluate various situations and changes to me made wherever and whenever necessary. This kind of objective based and outcomes oriented teaching is definitely the need of the hour to provide stable and right direction to implement strategies that facilitate in motivating the students towards their continuous up gradation. 3. Context: With the changing economy and global trends the demand for engineering education is increasing day by day. This has also implications on the intake of the students. Students securing high ranks are also admitted in the course. Apart from that faculty also should be familiar and understand the importance of outcomes based education. Thus rigorous brainstorming sessions and Faculty Development Programs were planned to acquaint the faculty with the need to think on the lines of outcome based education, blended carefully with continuous assessment. 4. The Practice: Outcome based education can be considered as transitional and transmissional approach to the traditional teaching. This paradigm shift in education enables the faculty to closely monitor and mentor the students. It is a unique approach especially in higher education primarily for one reason that there is a close monitoring on the students and also on the implementation of curriculum. Apart from the above mentioned, teaching of human values and professional ethics, awareness among the students about their rich cultural heritage has brought about tremendous change in the mind set of the students. The OBE approach, or for that matter any approach demands the following three things from both faculty and students. Faculty should focus on ensuring learning rather than teaching. Students cannot learn if they do not think Faculty has a major responsibility to help students learn how to learn. These three things are interdependent. Students should be self responsible and should get continued support from the teacher. This becomes contingent upon the students' acceptance of this responsibility. While concentrating on outcome based education, the faculty should be careful to see that their spontaneity is not withered and initiative is not stifled. Learning outcomes and competence descriptors are difficult and time consuming. Since course and curriculum development is an ongoing cycle or process, all objectives and learning outcomes need to be reappraised continuously at regular intervals.

5. Evidence of Success: The success of any institution is closely and directly connected with the success of the students. The steadily increasing pass percentage is the primary indicator. Secondly, many students are being placed in reputed companies. Majority of the students are also pursuing higher education both in the country and abroad. Evidence of the students who have been selfemployed is also a positive indicator. The growing research culture among the students has resulted in two inhouse projects by students. These projects have secured recognition from CSI.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required. Less motivation among middle cadre faculty decreases the chances for developing research culture in the institution. Moreover, the government fixes the fee structure for the professional colleges and as a result there is no liberty to fix the tuition fee. There is very little academic freedom. Hence, there is very little scope to implement the changes in curriculum to reduce the gap between academia and industry. Inadequate human resources is also a major problem. This is mainly due to mushrooming growth of engineering colleges. Owing to this quality and qualified faculty are scattered across institutions. The college firmly believes in providing Outcome Based Education (OBE) clearly focusing and organizing everything in an educational system around what is essential for all students to be able to do successfully at the end of their learning experiences. All our programs start with a clear picture of what is important for students to be able to do, then organize the curriculum, instruction, and assessment to make sure this learning ultimately happens. Such an approach presupposes that we can determine what things are "essential for all students to be able to do", and that it is possible to achieve these things through an appropriate organisation of the education system and through appropriate classroom practices.

Best Practices II

1. Title of the Practice: Centre for Academic and Career Guidance
- Apply, compare, perform and produce.
2. Goal: The main goal of the center is to make the students discover their inner potential and strive to attain success in their chosen field. The center helps the students in identifying their talents, interests and values in making right career choices. It lends its full support to students in academic planning and exploring future professional and placement opportunities available as per the changing global economy.
3. The Context: The College has decided to implement this center keeping in mind the changing market situation, volatile industry growth and demands, and availability of more number of opportunities to students but lack of proper understanding about the opportunities among the student community. With this humble thought the college has formed a center with the head of the institution as the chairman. In the process of functioning of the center it is observed that it is practically difficult in developing a common competence framework. The center demands a diverse workforce operating through both developed and assorted networks at all levels. The career guidance has to be widely available to a large group of students. Sometimes it is little difficult to accomplish the needs of the students at an optimum level.
4. The Practice The center actually starts working making the students remember Socrates and his valid statement 'Know thyself'. The students are made to understand about themselves thoroughly. To achieve this, few questions that test their skills, aptitude, interests and goals are prepared and they are expected to answer the same after a thorough introspection. This can be considered as the first stage of the practice. With the attained clarity by answering the questions, the students are ready to brainstorm on various career options available. This is the second stage, which can be called as planning stage. Finally an interactive session is conducted with the students based on their goals and their strengths. This kind of planning to make the students realize their potential and inner talent is definitely a unique practice to be implemented in higher education. The practice emphasizes and believes that 21st century illiterate is not a person who do not know how to read or write, but a person who cannot learn, unlearn and relearn. The center strives to bring in all the three phases among the students.

5. Evidence of Success: It has been observed that more number of students are showing interest in pursuing higher studies in less known careers as well. The Alumni survey report clearly talks about the volunteering nature of the students of Geethanjali. The Alumni is ready to talk to their juniors on various career choices available. This is made possible with the efforts of the active center in the college.

6. Problems encountered and Resources Required: Major constraints or rather challenges in developing the center is less motivation and interest in this direction among the middle cadre or young faculty joining teaching profession. The students find it difficult to prioritize their challenges, even after the guidance, because of family or societal constraints. Limited number of faculty with an orientation towards career guidance, and less number of trained inhouse faculties. As a result, guest lectures on the importance of ethical behavior and proper code of conduct is provided to students at regular intervals by experts. This has turned to be a costly affair to colleges, especially to selffinanced colleges. To be an active member of the center, people involved should constantly update themselves in all walks of life. Though the questions framed to understand their inner potential apparently look simple, yet it is difficult for them to answer. This first stage demands a lot of attention by the senior and experienced faculty involved in the centre. The first stage requires a lot of clarity and positive thought process and passion to perform even among the faculty involved.

7. Notes (Optional) As a part of the Career Guidance Center, the college has established a nodal center in collaboration with R.K.Mutt, Domalguda, Hyderabad, with an aim to inculcate selfconfidence and make them realize the need for self monitoring. The basic premise of the center is to 'educate, build and reform'. It is the conviction of the college that students who have been closely monitored and mentored have always performed far better than others who were not monitored didnt undergo mentoring. With this strong belief in mind, the college has established a Center for Academic and Career Guidance (CACG), with the Principal as its Chairman.
