Mobile Assisted Language Learning

Today's students are tech-savvies. Smart phones in the hands of every college student have become an integral part of their life, without which the present generation students cannot imagine life. This obsession to mobile can be utilized to enhance their vocabulary.

Two Google apps namely One-word Substitutes and Mobile Assisted Language Learning and English Vocabulary Building are downloaded by the students in their smart phones. Individually they started completing the exercises. The students completed the tasks enthusiastically.

Activity : 4

Read this conversation about a daughter's relationship with a busy and famous father and how she feels about it when she looks back.

Shilpa Desai : I don't really know my father. He isn't easy to get on with. He's quite self-centred, and a little bit vain. I think he was also quite unapproachable. The public must think he's easy-going, but at home he keeps (himself) to himself. He can't have been at home much when I was a child. He has always been quite out of touch with family life. His work always came first. He has won several awards and he shows off his awards to whoever comes to the house. I went to an expensive school. He must have been very pleased to get me into that school, but in the end it was a complete waste of money. I was cut off from my friends. So I quit school. I let him down badly.

Shilpa Desai : Now I'm married to an ordinary, humble but good man. My father was totally opposed to the marriage. As a family, we are not close, either emotionally or geographically. My father and I are totally different, like chalk and cheese. He often comes on T.V. But I never watch him on T.V. I'm not that interested, and anyway he usually forgets to tell me when he's on.

Answer the questions :

- How would you describe their relationship ?

- How would you describe Mr. Desai in one phrase ? (other than given in the passage)

- Why did she leave school ?

- How would you describe Shilpa ?

- Why was Mr. Desai opposed to Shilpa's marriage ?

Vocabulary Check :

Look the meanings in the box and match them to the words and phrase used in the text.

Not proud or boastful	disappoint someone	interested in oneself completely different from each other	not in contact	not talk to other people very much have good relationship	not friendly (not easy to talk to) interested in one's own appearance or achievements

What can you deduce from the following situations ? Read the situations and make your conclusions or inferences.

Example : Chitra is on her hands and knees.

She must be looking for something she has dropped / lost.

a) The neighbours are making a lot of noise.

b) Rajesh's phone bill is enormous.

c) Girish has lost a lot of weight recently.

d) Mary is standing at the bus stop.

e) A car is found crashed into a tree, with the driver unconscious at the wheel.

f) Did you say you saw my aunt in Canada? She didn't live in Canada when you visited ?

g) Is that Azeez there ? But he is away on a business trip at the moment?

h) This meal is delicious.

i) You are carrying so many marriage invitations.

j) My letter to Mohan has returned with a note "addressee not found".

Read the following paragraph and write down which words indicate the author's opinion. Also explain what his opinion is.

There is the first problem with tipping: the ore discretion you have in the matter the more unpleasant it is. Tipping is an aristocratic conceit—"There you go, my good man, buy your starving family a loaf" best left to an aristocratic age. The practicing democrat would rather be told what he owes right up front. Offensively rich people may delight in peeling off hundred dollar bills and tossing them out to groveling servants. But no sane, well-adjusted human being cares to sit around and evaluate the performance of some beleaguered coffee vendor.

Steps for Decision Making Case Study

Here is a sample issue using the five-step model for decision making:

Maria's television is broken and her goal is to buy a different one. She is trying to decide if she should buy a new one now or wait for a few months when she could have saved some money. Basing the decision on her money goal, here are the steps she follows and the questions she asks herself:

1. What is the money issue or decision you need to make?

Purchase a television now or in the future.

2. What are the possible options or choices for making that decision?

- A. Borrow a television.
- B. Find out the price of repairing the broken television.
- C. Buy in a few months with cash.
- D. Buy now with cash.
- E. Buy in a few months with credit.
- F. Do not buy a television.
- G. Save the money for some other purchase.
- H. Buy now with credit.

3. What are the possible results (Pros and Cons) for each of the options? Not all options have a pro and a con.

Pros

- A. The money that would have been spent can be saved.
- B. I may have enough money or the repair bill.
- C. I can save money to make the purchase.
- D. -
- E. -
- F. I can spend time doing other things.
- G. I can buy something that meets another money goal.
- H. -

Cons

- The person from whom I borrowed the television may want it back.
- The repair bill may be more than I want to spend on the television.
- There may not be money available for other expenses or purchases.
- There will be a credit payment to make.
- There may not be money available to make a credit payment.
- I can lose the option for entertainment, news, etc.
- I lose the option for home entertainment.
- There will be a credit payment to make. There may not be money available to make a credit payment.

4. What is the decision?

Buy in a few months with cash, allowing time to save for the purchase.

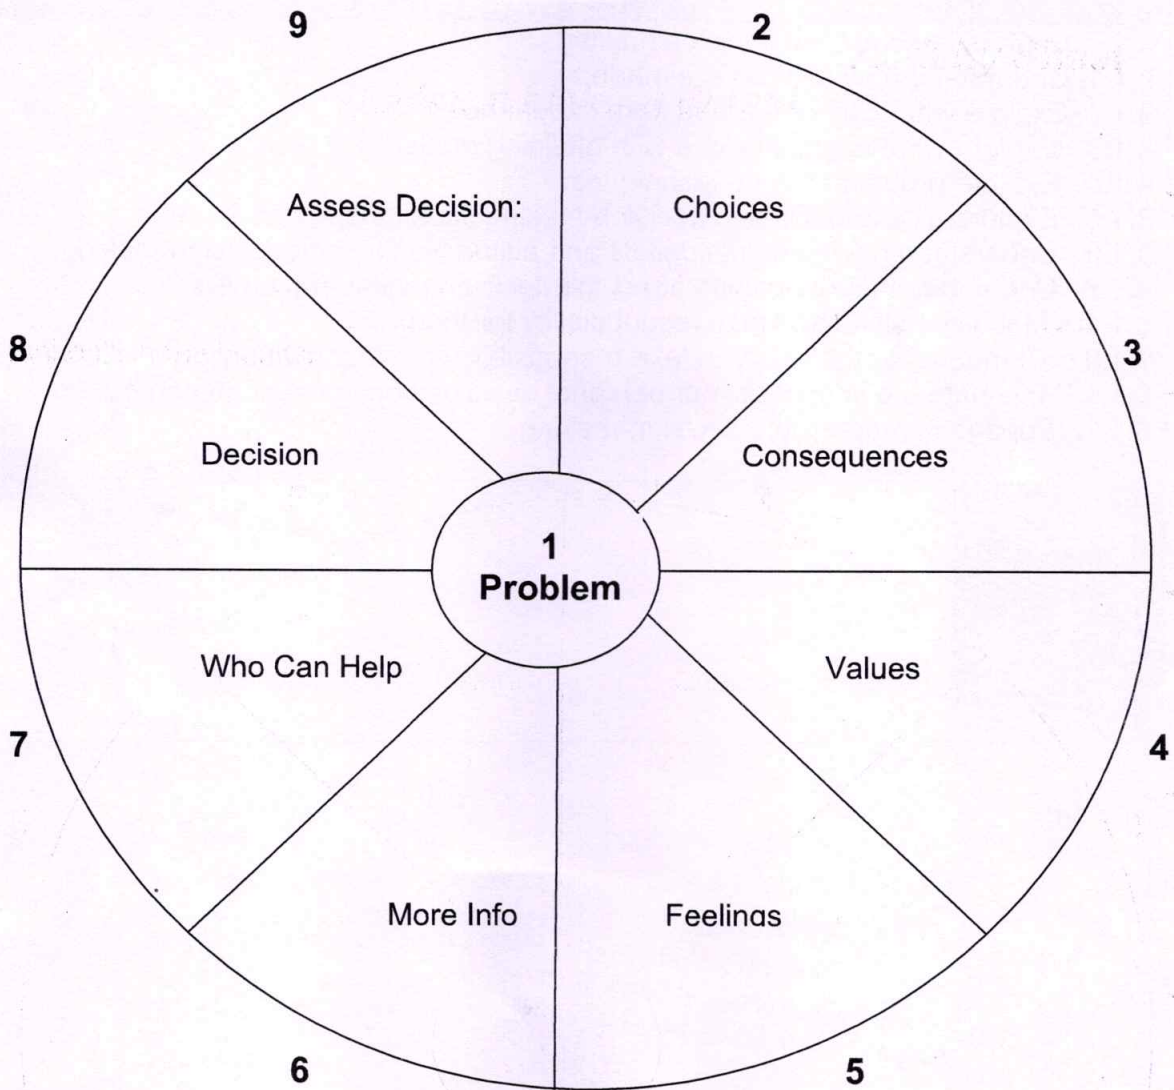

5. When will I look at the decision again?

I will check in two months to see how much I have saved for the purchase. If it is working I can keep saving to reach my goal. If it is not working I can revisit the options and select another that will help meet my goal.

Activity Sheet

Decision Making Wheel

This wheel will help you to make better choices in your life. When you have an important decision to make, start by stating the problem in the hub of the wheel. Next, move through the 9 choices, one by one. When you have a decision to make fill in the blanks.

ACTIVITY 17

Title:	Decision Making Wheel
Focus:	In this activity students begin to learn a decision making strategy that will help them improve the quality of the choices they make.
Time:	35-45 minutes depending on class size
Guiding Question:	Skillful Decision Making <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. What makes a decision necessary? 2. What are my options? 3. What are the likely consequences of each option? 4. How important are the consequences? 5. Which option is best in light of the consequences
Connections:	Concept: Know thyself – Develop a better understanding of themselves Competencies: Learning effective strategies for positive interaction with others Plan before deciding / Deciding and acting / Monitoring and evaluating
Rationale/ Background:	Thinking Skill/Process Students will learn to think about options and the consequences of those options in making decisions.
The Learning Experience
Setting The Stage	Open a discussion on decision-making strategies. Have you ever made a choice that resulted in a consequence that you did not want? Invite the students to share. How do we decide whether we should do something or not? How do you make a choice or a decision? If we want to improve our consequences, we have to improve our decision-making strategies.
The Activity	Today we are going to learn how to improve consequences by improving how we go about choosing what to do. Hand out the Activity Sheet: “Decision Making Wheels” to each student. Following the steps on the wheel, teach the students the process of clarifying the problem, then moving through the steps of thinking to come to a decision. Read the following scenario: It is recess. Everyone is out on the playing fields, including the teacher. You have to go the toilet. On the way to the toilet, you pass your class and notice that there is someone in the room. You stop and peek in out of curiosity. Just as you do, you see one of your best friends reach into another person’s desk and take something out of it. You quickly move past the door before you are seen. Just before the lunch bell rings, the students whose desk you saw your friend reach into, walks up to the teacher. A moment later the teacher announces that this student’s entire pencil case with pencils, pens and lunch money in it has been stolen. What do you do?

You're now ready to take some positive action by beginning to implement the alternative you chose in Step 5.

Step 7: Review your decision & its consequences

In this final step, consider the results of your decision and evaluate whether or not it has resolved the need you identified in Step 1. If the decision has not met the identified need, you may want to repeat certain steps of the process to make a new decision. For example, you might want to gather more detailed or somewhat different information or explore additional alternatives.

Decision making is the process of making choices by identifying a decision, gathering information, and assessing alternative resolutions.

Using a step-by-step decision-making process can help you make more deliberate, thoughtful decisions by organizing relevant information and defining alternatives. This approach increases the chances that you will choose the most satisfying alternative possible.

Step 1: Identify the decision

You realize that you need to make a decision. Try to clearly define the nature of the decision you must make. This first step is very important.

Step 2: Gather relevant information

Collect some pertinent information before you make your decision: what information is needed, the best sources of information, and how to get it. This step involves both internal and external "work." Some information is internal: you'll seek it through a process of self-assessment. Other information is external: you'll find it online, in books, from other people, and from other sources.

Step 3: Identify the alternatives

As you collect information, you will probably identify several possible paths of action, or alternatives. You can also use your imagination and additional information to construct new alternatives. In this step, you will list all possible and desirable alternatives.

Step 4: Weigh the evidence

Draw on your information and emotions to imagine what it would be like if you carried out each of the alternatives to the end. Evaluate whether the need identified in Step 1 would be met or resolved through the use of each alternative. As you go through this difficult internal process, you'll begin to favor certain alternatives: those that seem to have a higher potential for reaching your goal. Finally, place the alternatives in a priority order, based upon your own value system.

Step 5: Choose among alternatives

Once you have weighed all the evidence, you are ready to select the alternative that seems to be best one for you. You may even choose a combination of alternatives. Your choice in Step 5 may very likely be the same or similar to the alternative you placed at the top of your list at the end of Step 4.

Step 6: Take action

"Pile On"

The starting point of all achievement is desire'
Napoleon Hill.

from Team-Building Activities for Every Group by Alanna Jones, 1999.

Objective: To build trust and team cohesion by asking everyone to work together on a challenging task.

Group size: 6-20 is ideal

Materials: Any flat surface with edges that people can stand on (i.e. a large stump, desk, surfboard, piece of plywood, old shirt, or bench) or a roll of masking tape

Description: Find a surface that is flat with edges that people can stand on, or make an area on the ground marked off with masking tape. The area should be big enough that everyone can fit in it, but small enough that not everyone's feet can easily stand in the area. Challenge the group to fit everyone onto the area without anyone touching the outside area or falling off and to stay on for at least ten seconds.

Discussion Prompts:

- 1) How did your group decide what needed to be done during this activity?
- 2) Did each person do his/her own thing, or was everyone working with one another? Why?
- 3) What happens on a team when everyone is doing his/her own thing?
- 4) What happens on a team when everyone is contributing to the problem-solving process?

Soft Skills Report
Assessment - I (ECE - III B).

On 30th August, 2017 the 1st assessment of Soft Skills was done. 39 students participated from 60 students. In a group of three, the students performed the activity where they were assessed in terms of their ability to present their thoughts, gestures, vocabulary and attitude. They all performed fairly well. Initially they were hesitant but as they ~~class~~ started attending the classes, the hesitation as well as stage fear gets reduced. In their 1st assessment, the present students were given topics ranging from politics to economy to contemporary societal aspects. They participated and performed the task.

The outcomes of the 1st assessment is/are as follows:

- (i) The students were able to speak
- (ii) The students were able to draft situational dialogues
- (iii) The students learnt technical vocabulary usage.
- (iv) The students overcome their initial hesitation and stage fear.
- (v) The students learnt to perform a task in a group.

Hobby

The class teacher thought that hobbies were very important for every child. She encouraged all her pupils to have one, and sometimes arranged for their parents to come and see the work they had done as a result.

One Friday morning the teacher told the class that those of them who had a hobby could have a holiday that afternoon to get the things they had made as parts of their hobbies ready for their parents to see the following afternoon.

So on Friday afternoon, while those of the pupils who had nothing to show did their usual lessons, the lucky ones who had made something were allowed to go home, on condition that they returned before five o'clock to bring what they were going to show, and to arrange it.

When the afternoon lessons began, the teacher was surprised to see that Tommy was not there. He was the laziest boy in the class, and the teacher found it difficult to believe that he had a hobby. However, at a quarter to five, Tommy arrived with a beautiful collection of butterflies in glass cases. After his teacher had admired them and helped him to arrange them on a table in the classroom, she was surprised to see Tommy pick them up again and began to leave.

"What are you doing, Tommy?" she asked. "Those things must remain here until tomorrow afternoon. That's when the parents are coming to see them."

"I know they are coming then," answered Tommy, "and I will bring them back tomorrow; but my big brother doesn't like them to be out of our house at night in case they are stolen."

"But what has it got to do with your big brother?" asked the teacher. "Aren't the butterflies yours?"

"No," answered Tommy. "They belong to him."

"But Tommy, you are supposed to show your own hobby here, not somebody else's!" said the teacher.

"I know that," answered Tommy. "My hobby is watching my brother collecting butterflies."

Task:

Read the story and share your reactions with your group.

This is a true story which happened in the States. A man came out of his home to admire his new truck. To his puzzlement, his three-year-old son was happily hammering dents into the shiny paint of the truck. The man ran to his son, knocked him away, and hammered the little boy's hands into pulp as punishment. When the father calmed down, he rushed his son to the hospital.

Although the doctor tried desperately to save the crushed bones, he finally had to amputate the fingers from both the boy's hands. When the boy woke up from the surgery & saw his bandaged stumps, he innocently said, "Daddy, I'm sorry about your truck." Then he asked, "But when are my fingers going to grow back?"

The father went home and committed suicide.

1. Think about this story the next time someone steps on your feet or u wish to take revenge. Think first before you lose your patience with someone you love. Trucks can be repaired... Broken bones and hurt feelings often can't. Too often we fail to recognize the difference between the person and the performance. We forget that forgiveness is greater than revenge. Do you have any story/incident you would like to share with your group?
2. People make mistakes. We are allowed to make mistakes. But the actions we take while in a rage will haunt us forever. Do you agree? Discuss with your group.

Who Should I Pray For?

There was a man who had two daughters. The girls grew up and got married. The elder daughter married a potter. The younger one married a gardener. After they were married, each daughter went to live with her husband in his village. Both of them were very happy.

One day the father decided to visit his daughters. First, he went to visit his younger daughter who had married the gardener. The girl was very happy to see her father. She invited him into the house. He asked her, 'How are you, my child?'

'We are very happy, Father,' she said 'but life is difficult. It is not raining. If there is no rain, we'll be in trouble. All my husband's plants will dry up. He'll have nothing to sell. And then we'll have nothing to sell. And then we'll have nothing to eat. I hope it will rain soon.'

The man listened to his daughter, and said, 'Don't worry, my child. I shall pray for the rains to come soon. I'm sure God will listen to my prayers.'

He took leave of her and went to the next village. He went to the house where his elder daughter lived with her husband, the potter. She, too, was very happy to see her father. 'How are you, my child?' he asked.

'Very well, Father,' replied the girl. 'The sun is shining. It's very hot. People come to us every day to buy pots to keep their water cool. My husband's business is doing very well. The hot sun helps our pots to dry fast. I hope it doesn't rain. If it rains, our pots won't dry. Also, if it rains, people will not buy pots.'

The father stayed there for a while and then left. As he walked back to his village, the poor man did not know what to do. 'One daughter wants rain. The other doesn't. If it does not rain, my younger daughter will be hurt. If it rains, my elder daughter will suffer. What am I to do?'

Think!

What would you have done if you were in the father's position? Can you think of a solution to the problem?

DETECTIVES

One of the important qualities of a good detective is the ability to think clearly and logically. How good a detective are you? Form pairs and work out the answers to the questions based on this simple situation:

A drawer contains 8 blue socks and 8 black socks. It is dark and you cannot tell the difference between the two colours.

- a. What is the smallest number you will have to take out to ensure that you have a matching pair? 3
- b. What is the largest number you can take out and still not have a matching pair? 8
- c. What is the smallest number you can take out to be sure that you have one of each colour? (This seems a silly question but some people like to wear odd socks!) 9
- d. What is the largest number you can take out and still have all of one colour? 8
- e. What is the smallest number you can take out to be sure that you have a blue pair? 10

Critical thinkers

1. Critical thinkers care that their beliefs are true, and that their decisions be justified; that is, care to 'get it right' to the extent possible, or at least care to do the best they can. This includes the interrelated dispositions to do the following:
 - a. Seek alternatives (hypotheses, explanations, conclusions, plans, sources) and be open to them;
 - b. Endorse a position to the extent that, but only to the extent that, it is justified by the information available;
 - c. Be well informed; and
 - d. Seriously consider points of view other than their own.

2. Critical thinkers represent a position honestly and clearly (theirs as well as others').
This includes the dispositions to do the following:
 - a. Be clear about the intended meaning of what is said, written, or otherwise communicated seeking as much precision as the situation requires;
 - b. Determine and maintain focus on the conclusion or question;
 - c. Seek and offer reasons;
 - d. Take into account the total situation; and
 - e. Be reflectively aware of their own basic beliefs.

3. Critical thinkers care about the dignity and worth of every person. This includes the dispositions to:
 - a. Discover and listen to others' views and reasons;
 - b. Take into account others' feelings and level of understanding, avoiding intimidating or confusing others with their critical thinking prowess; and
 - c. Be concerned about others' welfare.

Using “I” Messages

This activity helps learners learn to give criticism, explain a problem, make a suggestion, or express an opinion without being offensive to the other person.

Learning Objective

Adult learners will understand the importance of “I” messages, identify their feelings, and express their feelings in difficult situations in a non-threatening manner.

Work-Based Skills

EFF Skills: Interpersonal Skills: cooperate with others, resolve conflict and negotiate; Communication Skills: Speak so others can understand, listen actively, convey ideas in writing, read with understanding.

KSAs: Cooperates with others, Works on a team effectively, Listens for understanding; Talks with respect; Follows instructions; Reads work related text.

SCANS: Basic Skills: speaking, listening, reading, writing; Interpersonal Skills: participates as a member of a team, exercises leadership; Resources: human.

Subjects

- Interpersonal relationships
- Life skills
- Problem solving
- Work environment

Activity Description

I have had learners who have quit their jobs because they could not get along with the boss. They did not understand how to explain a problem or express an opinion without offending the other party.

Families First is the Tennessee program to provide training for those welfare recipients who lack basic education skills. While learners do work toward a GED, emphasis in these classes is shifting toward the knowledge, skills, and attitudes learners need to acquire and keep a good job.

This learning activity was part of a series of lessons on problems of communication in the workplace. We also covered lessons on understanding barriers to communication and improving listening habits.

1. Ask learners how many times they have wanted to “tell someone off” but just let the situation pass because they knew a confrontation would occur.
2. Encourage learners to share some of these situations with the class. Have the class share different approaches that could have been used and discuss the possible outcomes.
3. Explain that it is better to express how you feel about an issue rather than to criticize the other party. Demonstrate verbal examples of “I” messages. Such examples might include “I’m really feeling upset about this,” instead of, “You really make me mad.”
4. Using Handout 1, have the learners change the “you” messages to “I” messages.

Time Needed

2 hours

Setting

This activity was done in a Families First class of approximately 5 – 10 learners. The class meets Monday through Friday from 8 AM to 12 NOON.

5. Using Handout 2 (or a sheet that you have made containing examples of conflict situations), discuss appropriate and inappropriate responses to conflict situations. Leave part of the appropriate responses blank for the learners to fill in on their own response. Make sure there are several "You" messages which are incorrect and "I" messages which are correct, so that the learners can compare.
6. Write negative feeling words that show a wide range of emotions such as "scared" or "angry" on the board. These examples can guide the learners in determining the correct words to use in their messages.
7. Ask learners to create a list of responses to situations they have experienced or are likely to experience with their children, classmates, or co-workers.
8. In the next hour, have learners pair up and practice what they have learned by role-playing the different responses.
9. As an added emphasis, have learners practice using "I" messages describing how things could be changed. This goes beyond expressing feelings. For example, if a co-worker tells you that you are doing something wrong, you could reply, "Although I don't agree, I appreciate your point of view." Then, for the second part of the "I" statement, you could say, "I wish we could see eye-to-eye more often."

Assessment

The learner will be able to write the correct "I" message conveying both the feeling and the desired change when given a conflict situation from the workplace.

Practitioner Reflection

The learners had a much easier time dealing with the parent-child situations than with the workplace situations. I believe this is because they feel more comfortable dealing with problems with which they have had more experience.

Using "I" Messages—Conflict Situations

- X 1. The day shift where you work is having a meeting to decide the best way to store merchandise. Rochelle insists that she knows the best way and won't give anyone else a chance to talk.

2. At the ^{group} ~~company~~ Christmas party, some of your ^{the group} ~~coworkers~~ start teasing you about being the favorite of the boss. It starts to bother you because ^{friends/relatives} ~~if~~ they have a ^{noticed a} ~~real~~ problem with ^{you} ~~this~~, you would like to clear the air.

- ^{Imagine that}
3. You have just started working at a fast food restaurant. The shift manager is watching ^{of yours} ~~your~~ every move. This makes you nervous and you make more careless mistakes.

4. The boss's secretary is collecting money for the coffee fund at work. Everyone is supposed to contribute to the fund but you aren't a coffee drinker.

Assertiveness

- 1) Not being outspoken is not lack of assertiveness. It is lack of self-confidence
- 2) dependant — Counter-Dependant — Independent
 - Ex: story of donkey tied imaginarily
 - Ex: clap session in the class
 - Ex: Entering lift, Breaking the balloons, identifying yams.
 - Ex: Introduce yourself

3) Group activity for two → 10 mts.
 Identify a) group common behaviour b) who is assertive c) who is dependant c) who is rare?

- A) Activity: — You are making a presentation. Suddenly someone interfered asking a question you couldn't answer —
- 5) Ask the students to write an exchange — for the situation given
 - 6) Ask a student to sit on the chair of faculty. Check their assertiveness
 - 7) Observe Assertive / Aggressive — record the observations
 - 7) Without physical contact ask the students to open the others first.

- Situations :-
- 1) The ~~barman~~ ^{bearer} serves you the wrong dish. — record the responses
 - 2) Your colleague ~~you~~ who shares your work in office, smokes continuously. You dislike smoking — responses recorded.
 - 3) You feel that you are not given due recognition at workplace for your hard work
 - 4) You went to pay the bill in a shopping complex. But the counter men were busy in talking to each other. They ignore you —
 - 5) You did a mistake at work and your supervisor tells you off in an abrupt way —
- Is assertiveness challenging? in the above situations?

Ask line — No line — Two lines

A line would ask anything — B line gives only no' answers with a reason for it.

A line then asks questions only with what PRINCIPAL why.

No' line elaborates gives information — teacher checks.

NSS REPORT
OLD CLOTHES DISTRIBUTION CAMPAIGN

Date: 23/12/2017

Venue: Balaji Nagar & Ambedkar Nagar

This report is to brief about the NSS activity of “old clothes distribution campaign” which was initiated by the members of NSS. This includes the collection of old used clothes from students and faculty members and distribute to the poor and slum people who are residing at Balaji Nagar and Ambedkar Nagar, Medchal District, Hyderabad.

The clothes which was collected for the campaign, was contributed by both “Geethanjali College of Engineering and Technology” and “Geethanjali College of Pharmacy”. Both students and the faculty members have done their best in philanthropy way for this campaign. NSS volunteers separated all the clothes based on age and size and it was distributed to the poor people based on their need and requirement.

People who resided at above specified place accepted us and felt very happy in receiving the clothes. Clothes were available for kids, men and women. They also thanked the college Management and the NSS volunteers for being kind towards them. One of the NSS members Mrs.A.Lalitha, Associate Professor (CSE Dept.) and few other NSS student volunteers were accompanied to the venue for distribution of clothes.
